The Board of Directors of the Mississippi Orphans Home beg leave to make this, its annual report, to the North Mississippi Conference with increased thanksgiving and gratitude to our Heavenly Father for that providence which has preserved the lives of the inmates of the Home during the Conference year just closed, vouchsafing reasonable health to all, and supplying through those who believe in Him, every need of the children committed to the care of the Church, in this splendid institution.

Not a death has occurred in the Home during the year, nor has there been a case of serious illness. The Church has been loyal and liberal in its support of the Home, and continued evidence that this institution has a strong hold on the hearts of our people has been given.

At the mid-summer meeting of the Board a thorough consideration was given to all the affairs of the Home, by practically a full Board, at which time there was presented by the Manager a certified report of a public expert accountant, showing that the finances of the Home had been properly accounted for, and that the disbursements were properly vouched. This report was submitted to a Committee composed of Rev. J. M. Wyatt, Mrs. Scales and R. L. Bennett, who after examining the same reported to the Board that it was approved. At this meeting Rev. W. M. Williams was re-elected Manager for another year, and the Bishop is asked to re-appoint Bro. Williams to that position.

The following vacancies in the Board of Directors occur with the meeting of the Conference:

For North Mississippi Conference—J. M. Wyatt and T. H. Dorsey.

From the report of the Manager we submit the following as a conclusion to this, our annual report:

We have a good school with five capable teachers, and music is taught to twenty girls. Six of the girls from the Home are in college, supported by individuals, Districts and W. H. M. S.'s. Four of our boys are in college, working their way through, and doing well.

We have our regular preaching services, Sunday School, and Epworth League every Sunday, weekly prayer meeting every Wednesday night, boys' prayer meeting every Saturday night. We have our morning and evening prayers. A large number of the larger boys and girls were converted this year during revival meetings. Forty-one have united with the church. The children's love and loyalty to the Home is growing each year.

Signed,

W. M. YOUNG, Chairman,

J. A. HALL, Secretary,

W. L. GRAVES,

Committee.

Lester, B. P. Fullilove, J. H. Holder, A. W. Langley, J. T. Lewis, Eugene Johnson, O. L. Savage, Charles P. Moss, J. H. Bass, H. M. Young.

Sabbath Observance—The Committee on Sabbath Observance made its report, which was read and adopted, as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

The word Sabbath means rest. God said, Remember the Sabbath or Rest Day to Keep it Holy. This is not only a law of God, but a law of nature, for it is essential to obtain man's best service that he rest one day in seven. So from the standpoint of social interest and help we should insist on the observance of the law of Sinai.

Our present Sabbath represents our faith in the Resurrection of our Lord and Savior. If the Church loses her Sabbath she will have lost one of her basic principles.

We want emigrants coming into our land to be made to respect and appreciate our Sabbath Day. To this end we heartily indorse the Sunday League of America. In this busy age of the world there is quite a temptation for people to attend to all kinds of secular business on the Sabbath Day. Not only this, but many modern conveniences, and even necessities are often misused to keep our people from church. So the automobile, instead of bringing them to church, is often used for Sunday rides. We also protest against society clubs meeting for entertainment on Sunday.

If our preachers are to be the spiritual leaders of the people, let them cry out against desecration of the Sabbath, both in high and low places in our society life. Especially do we oppose Sunday ball games, as all other Sunday games, with Sunday newspapers and unnecessary railroad traffic, such as Sunday excursions. Also let us fight for the closing of the business houses in our towns and cities on Sunday. Remember Sabbath desecration is but the entering wedge to all kinds of wickedness. As a rule the man that hunts and fishes on Sunday is the man that drinks, gambles and otherwise gives trouble to better society. Resolved that our preachers be requested to preach at least once on Sabbath Observance in each of their congregations during the coming year. Respectfully submitted,

O. P. ARMOUR, For the Committee.

Local Deacons—The Bishop called Question 12, What local preachers are elected Deacons? Rutherford B. Burks, of the Corinth District, having been for four years a local preacher, and having been examined and recommended as the Discipline directs, was elected Deacon.

Introduced—Dr. Willis Carlisle, of the Missouri Conference, and Dr. James Cannon, of the Virginia Conference, were introduced, the latter making an address in behalf of the Southern Assembly, located near Waynesville, N. C.

Joint Board—The Joint Board of Finance made its report, which was adopted after an amendment striking out the provision for a special agent to visit the several District Conferences in the interest of the Endowment Fund, and asking that each Presiding Elder appoint a representative for this cause at his District Conference.

FINANCE.

The Board believes that the time is opportune for a more determined effort in behalf of the Claimants on the Conference. We are paying our superannuated preachers an amount entirely inadequate for these days of high cost of living. We urge our preachers to raise the amount assessed against their charges for the superannuate endowment fund, and recommend an assessment for this purpose equal to one per cent. of the salary of the pastor.

We request the Presiding Elders to appoint some one at each District Conference to represent this fund.

District Conference Records—The Committee on District Conference Records made the following report:

All the Books of Record for the several districts were presented to the committee. As a whole, they are neat and well kept. Two records omit the official roll.

We highly commend the method of making marginal notes of topics which is used by nearly all the Secretaries.

As a set the books are remarkably well kept. Minor criticisms are filed in the several books. Signed,

J. H. SMITH,
J. R. BRIGHT,
For the Committee.

Substituted—O. W. Bradley and W. M. Young were, on motion, substituted on the Sunday School Board in place of R. I. Allen and R. P. Neblett.

Education—The Board of Education made its report, which was adopted, after an address by Dr. A. F. Watkins.

EDUCATION.

The Biblical Department of Vanderbilt University we recognize as the one fully organized seminary of our Church; and we recommend that our young men qualified for so doing avail themselves of the opportunities there offered for thorough theological training. We appreciate the importance and necessity of a strong well-equipped school of theology as the head of our system of ministerial education.

In partial conformity to the resolutions suggested by the Educational Conference of last spring for adoption by the Annual Conference Boards, we concur in the judgment that "the college is primarily cultural, not vocational; that its mission is the development of men rather than the training of ministers." We point with pleasure to Millsaps College as such an institution, worthy of the full confidence and patronage of Mississippi Methodists; and congratulate the Conference upon the election and auspicious inauguration of Rev. A. F. Watkins, D.D., as President of that institution. Reports from the faculty and student body are also highly encouraging, assuring us that its cultural function Millsaps College is admirably fulfilling.

We cannot concur, however, in the recommendation of the Educational Conference that no vocational function be attempted by our Church colleges, and in lieu of their resolution to this effect it is our judgment that, "Since there are, in all of our Church colleges, young men preparing for the ministry, to whom, because of advancing years and lack of early educational advantages, a full collegiate and seminary course is impossible, we advise that, for such ministerial candidates only, special courses of theological instruction be provided in our Church colleges for men; that while unfortunately deprived of the full cultural value of a complete college training, such young ministers may enter upon their ministerial labors with at least some knowledge of those subjects especially pertaining to their work in life. We believe that our recommendation here is in harmony with sound reasoning and modern educational tendencies; and that a sacrifice of vocational to cultural training, where both cannot be had, has no parallel in medicine, law, or other professions; and is incompatible with religious ideals."

We recommend that, following recent admirable suggestions and examples, each District within our bounds assume the maintenance of a student preacher at Millsaps College; and request that the Presiding Elder of each district in the conference select some worthy and needy ministerial student, and interest the people of his district in his support.

We endorse the great work being done by Grenada College for the young womanhood of the Church; and commend heartily the able and successful administration of President J. R. Countiss.

We recommend that, henceforth, the assessments for the General Board and for our Conference colleges be separated; and request the Presiding Elders to see to it that, in the apportionment of the several charges by the District Stewards, this division into General and Conference interests be maintained. We would urge our preachers not to discriminate against the assessments for the general educational work, but to place each upon its merits, presenting urgently the needs of all. The great work being done by Paine College, Augusta, Ga., for the needy race at our door, and other vital interests we would especially recall as dependent upon a generous response to the demands of our General Board.

Complaint comes from both Grenada and Millsaps that representatives of institutions from without our bounds seek students from among us, making offers and claims misleading in their nature. We recommend that no encouragement be given by our preachers or people to such solicitors.

We rejoice in the continued prosperity of the Correspondence School, as indicated by the enrollment during the past year of 1,034 students. Our undergraduates, we advise, should more and more avail themselves of its generous privileges.

The Seashore Divinity School, your Board believes, can be a source of great inspiration and instruction to the preachers of the Gulf States adjoining; and in harmony with the recommendation of the General Board concerning such institutes, advises its continuance, and an assessment of $250.00 toward its support, together with a large increase in attendance by the preachers of our conference.

The advisability of a joint educational rally of the conferences of Mississippi Methodism your Board would present for consideration, placing the matter in the hands of its Executive Committee, J. C. Park, H. S. Spragins, and J. D. Barbee.

The reappointment of Rev. T. H. Lipscomb as Conference Secretary of Education is hereby requested.

J. H. Ledyard the Board nominates to succeed G. L. Jones, removed, as a member of the Board of Trustees of Millsaps College.

J. R. Bingham and J. H. Felts are nominated for re-election as members of the Board of Trustees of Grenada College. J. R. Countiss is recommended for reappointment as President of Grenada College.

T. H. LIPSCOMB, Secretary.

I. D. BORDERS, Secretary.

R. P. Neblett was called to the bar of the Conference and reprimanded by the Bishop.

Temperance—The Committee on Temperance made the following report, which was adopted, after an address by Dr. Eichelberger:

TEMPERANCE.

Your Committee on Temperance reports with gratification that the Methodist Ministry in this Conference are sustaining the splendid record of years gone by in the long war waged against the liquor traffic. They have been incessantly using two weapons: "Moral suasion for the drinker and legal suasion for the seller."

We note with pride the position Mississippi assumed five years ago in banishing the saloon; but we made the mistake of going to sleep on our laurels. "And while we slept the enemy sowed the seed." But we rejoice in the determination of the people to put down this liquor rebellion in Mississippi.

We deplore the utter disregard of law among so many people in our State, and deplore the fact that so many young people are wanting in genuine respect for those in authority, thus harboring a dangerous tendency to lawlessness. We petition the next Legislature to repeal the infamous "Near Beer" fraud, which was put through the recent Legislature in some manner, mysterious to many people.

We ask the Boards charged with the duty of selecting juries, that they select better and more stable men in some localities in our State than have been selected at times in the past for jury service.

We commend the law, recently passed, increasing the penalties for second and subsequent convictions for selling liquors in this State, and appropriating, if necessary, as much as one-third of the fines from liquor convictions to defray the expenses of such convictions. We urge upon Boards of Supervisors in the counties, and Boards of Aldermen in the towns and cities to make this appropriation, since it is well known that "blind tigers" are now rarely caught except through secret service means.

We commend the action of Governor Brewer in using the State machinery at his command to enforce the law where county, municipal or other officials refuse or neglect to enforce the prohibition laws of the State.

We commend heartily those newspapers everywhere, and especially in Mississippi, that refuse to carry liquor advertisements, and we ask Christian people in Mississippi to consider the question of giving preference to these periodicals which keep their columns unsoiled by liquor advertisements or by articles upholding liquor sales, or decrying prohibition. We hope our people will lay this to heart.

We ask our representatives in Congress to use every honorable effort to pass a bill prohibiting the use of mails for the purpose of soliciting trade in intoxicants, or for advertising them in prohibition territory.

We endorse the Sheppard-Kenyon Bill, now pending in the Senate, which seeks to prohibit the shipment of intoxicating drinks into dry territory. As this bill is scheduled to be considered on the 16th of this month, and has the right-of-way until disposed of, we ask the Christian people of Mississippi to daily pray to the God of Armies that our brave Senators, unbought by blood money and unterrified by threats, may win in this National battle against this great evil. We ask that our Senators be immediately encouraged by multitudes of cheering letters from their sober constituents.

We are glad, and praise Almighty God, that by close organization and diligent work since we last met as a Conference, the illegal liquor traffic has been driven from the Gulf Coast and from many counties.

We endorse the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and all other organizations that have in view the extermination of intoxicants. And we recommend more full and comprehensive teaching in our public schools upon the evil effects of alcohol upon the body.

We endorse the Anti-Saloon League and commend its work of law enforcement. We ask that our people co-operate with the Anti-Saloon League in its great work of crushing this gigantic evil.

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. STOKES, For Committee.

Admitted Into Full Connection—The Bishop called Question 4, Who are admitted into full connection? The following having been for two years on trial, and having met the disciplinary requirements, were called to the bar of the Conference, earnestly addressed by the Bishop and by unanimous vote received into full connection: Jesse Mark Guinn, Albert Sidney Brisco, Anderson M. Bennett, W. S. Selman, William Vassar Shearer, Thomas Mills, and W. W. Hartsfield.

Hospital—The Special Committee on the Tri-State Methodist Hospital made it report, which was read and adopted, after an address by H. M. Ellis, Field Secretary:

HOSPITAL.

Your Committee is pleased to report that progress has been made during the past year in raising funds to establish a Methodist Hospital at Memphis, Tenn.

Over $63,000.00 has been raised in subscriptions, and about $15,000.00 of this amount has been paid. We are fully convinced that our people have not yet realized the magnitude and importance of this enterprise. The erection and equipment of an adequate and creditable Hospital in the City of Memphis is a stupendous undertaking, but it can be done. The need for it is undeniable. Every hospital in Memphis is now crowded with patients and, as medical science progresses, the facilities of a well-equipped institution for the care and cure of the sick will be more and more in demand.

That the Methodists of this section have not done this work long before this time is not at all creditable. Surely this neglect is not a token of their lack of sympathy for the sick and diseased. But the fact that they have failed to enter this field has occasioned unfortunate criticism and possibly loss. We are not willing for other religious bodies to care for our sick. The beginning we have made now puts the matter squarely before us. It is a promise to the public that we will build. The present situation is a challenge to all our Methodist people within the bounds of the four Conferences, and especially to our wealthy people; and if there is lack or delay in pushing the enterprise to a speedy conclusion it will be an unpardonable shame to us.

Our Field Secretary, the Rev. H. M. Ellis, has been diligent and faithful, and in the face of hard conditions he has gone forward in his work. We commend him and his work to all our people. Let our preachers open the way for him in their charges and co-operate with him in his plans.

We offer the following suggestions for your consideration:

First. That January 19th be set apart as Hospital Day to be observed throughout the bounds of our Conference. The Field Secretary arranging and furnishing on request of the pastors, such a program as shall meet the demands of the occasion.

Second. That our Laymen should be actively engaged in this campaign, offering their services to Pastors and Sunday School Superintendents as they may be able to render to advance the cause.

Third. That Committees be appointed in every Church to secure a subscription from every member.

Fourth. That our Pastors and Sunday School Superintendents take a cash collection for the Hospital on Sunday preceding Christmas, as a Christmas offering.

Your Committee advises you that the following Commissioners' terms of office expires with this Conference, namely: W. S. Lagrone, J. W. Dorman, J. D. Barbee, J. H. Sherard, JR. Bingham. Signed,

J. C. PARK, for the Committee.

Hospital Commissioners—The following Commissioners were, on motion, re-elected Hospital Commissioners: J. H. Sherard, J. W. Dorman, W. S. Lagrone, J. D. Barbee, and J. R. Bingham.

Public Worship.

The Committee on Public Worship announced the following appointments: Baptist Church, 3 p. m., Dr. Carlisle; Methodist Church, 7 p. m., Dr. H. G. Henderson. For Sunday: Methodist Church, 9 a. m., Love Feast, W. S. Lagrone; 11 a. m., Dr. James Cannon; 3:30 p. m., Memorial Service; 7:30 p. m., Dr. F. S. Parker. Presbyterian Church, 11 a. m., Dr. A. F. Watkins; 7:30 p. m., J. R. Countiss. Baptist Church, 11 a. m., Isaac D. Borders; 7:30 p. m., J. A. Hall.

Closing—Sundry announcements were made, the doxology was sung and Conference adjourned with the benediction by R. A. Ellis.

MEMORIAL SESSION.

Opening—Conference met in Memorial Session at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, December 8, Rev. W. W. Woollard, by appointment of Bishop Morrison, presiding. The hymns, "Nearer My God to Thee" and "More Love, O, Christ, to Thee," were sung and C. N. Terry led in prayer.

The Committee on Memoirs made its report, furnishing answer to Question 21, What preachers have died during the year? J. T. Cunningham, J. W. Honnoll and J. T. Murrah have passed away during the year.

The memoir of J. T. Cunningham was read by J. C. Park; that of J. W. Honnoll by W. W. Woollard, and that of J. T. Murrah by J. E. Cunningham, as follows:

MEMOIRS.

James Wiseman Honnoll.

James Wiseman Honnoll, son of Peter and Molly Savage Honnoll, was born in Hardeman County, Tenn., November 9, 1836. He was of German lineage and reflected to the last the sturdiness and immobility of the type. Four generations back of him his people came, in 1770, to America. Shortly thereafter commenced the Revolutionary War, and they took the part of the American Colonists. In some brief notes of his life, which he left for his children, he writes with evident pride, "In the war of 1776 my great-great-grandfather fought under George Washington." In the same manuscript he says, "My grandfather was in the war of 1812." Thus we see he was born of a martial people who were true to their ideals. No wonder that when the war of 1861 came he did not claim his exemption as a preacher, or seek a chaplaincy, but joined the Cavalry, Company "E," Hamm's Battallion, commanded by General Golston, and went to bear his part in his State's cause. The spirit of the soldier was in him, and his service as a Methodist itinerant was another expression of his martial ardor.

In February, 1850, he came with his parents to Tishomingo County, Miss., and he writes: "We built us a home in the woods, about six miles south of Kossuth and six miles north-west of Rienzi. We had one neighbor, a half mile south, but none for miles in any other direction." He had two brothers and five sisters. One brother, William C., died during the war. The other, Moses H., was a beloved member of this Conference and a superannuate when he died in 1901. His oldest sister, Mary, married John McElhannon, a Methodist itinerant, who died a superannuate member of the Oklahoma Conference. This quiet "home in the woods" was one where God was feared and worshipped. That no itinerants and another's wife came out of this pioneer's humble log cabin, attests, as Bro. Honnoll asserted, that it was a place of prayer. To both his father and mother he bears loving tribute. Of the latter he says, "I owe more to my mother than to any other human being. Her discipline was almost perfect." He speaks of his father as an earnest Christian and a member of the Methodist Church.

March 15, 1857, he was married to Jane E. Rogers—he not quite 21, she only 16 years of age. There were born to them ten children, seven sons and three daughters. One son and one daughter died in infancy. The others lived to maturity. This companion of his youth died at Byhalia, Miss., Sept. 23, 1875, leaving her latest born an infant nine hours old. Looking back over the distant years, thirty-five years after she had gone from him, and thinking of the happy day they plighted their troth, he wrote of her with his naive simplicity, "She was a member of the M. E. Church, South, a good Christian girl, and made me a faithful wife."

He was converted at Hinkle's Creek, in the Rienzi Circuit, in July, 1859. Of this time he writes: "I made two efforts to preach that summer before I joined the M. E. Church, South, in September following. I did not attempt to preach any more until my six months' probation was out, and I was received into full connection in the church and was granted license to preach." This commission was given him by the Quarterly Conference of the Rienzi Circuit at Blythe's Chapel, in March, 1860, H. D. Howell, Presiding Elder, and A. S. Hamilton, Pastor. He was then a youth of 23 years. The following year, before he joined the Conference, he was employed by the Presiding Elder to serve as junior preacher, under James M. Hampton, on the Rienzi Circuit.

He was admitted on trial into the Memphis Conference, at Jackson, Tenn., November, 1861, and was appointed to the East Port Circuit, in North-east Mississippi. Of this first appointment he writes: "I traveled my Circuit until the Southern Army retreated from Corinth, when left, having received just $8.00." He then joined the army. A friend who in his boyhood days was a member of the Church on this circuit, in speaking of his going to the war, says: "My earliest recollection of Brother Honnoll was when I was a mere lad. He was visiting in my mother's home as our pastor. We were at the dinner table when we heard our soldiers' bugles on retreat from Corinth. He immediately arose and said, 'That retreat means that I must become a soldier.' Without finishing his dinner he went out, saddled his horse and was off to join the army." He remained in the army until 1864, when he was honorably discharged. Later in the same year he was employed by G. C. Merriweather, Presiding Elder of the Aberdeen District, to travel the northern half of the Pontotoc Circuit under H. D. Howell. He was received into full connection in the Conference in November, 1864, at Aberdeen; and at the same time and place was ordained Deacon by Bishop Robert Paine. Here he was appointed to the Marietta Circuit and served it 1865, '66, and '67. In November, 1867, he was ordained elder by Bishop H. N. McTyeire at Paris, Tenn. Here he was appointed to the Kossuth Circuit, where he served 1868, and '69. At the Conference, 1869, he was sent to Corinth Station, where he remained two years, 1870, '71. When the North Mississippi Conference was organized in 1870, Brother Honnoll chose to remain within its bounds, and here he labored to the end. In November, 1871, he was appointed to Rienzi and Booneville. At the next session of the Conference, held in Corinth, November, 1872, he was assigned for a second term to Corinth Station. In March following, complications in the work of the church at Ripley arose, due to the unwisdom of a raw English recruit to the itinerancy, and Brother Honnoll was removed by the Presiding Elder, J. D. Cameron, from Corinth to Ripley to retrieve this difficult situation. Here he remained the rest of the year and at the Conference of 1873 was appointed to Byhalia Station, which he served for three years, 1874, '75, '76. Again, and for a third term, he was appointed to Corinth Station, where he labored two years, 1877, '78. In 1879 he was on the Marshall Circuit. The next three years, 1880, '81, '82, were spent at Wood Street, Water Valley.

This period of 21 years, from the beginning of his ministry to the close of his pastorate at Water Valley in 1882, form what may be called a distinct epoch in his ministry. He begins the next year under entirely different conditions, in a part of the State where he had never been. This first period of service was spent in the north-eastern part of the State, and was largely to the same people. I, therefore, pause here to sum up the growth and fruitage of these first years of his itinerancy. He had commenced with the dew of life's springtime yet fresh upon him. From his humble "home in the woods," out of the forest primeval, came this timid youth, but with "the armor of God," the shield of faith, the sword of the Spirit, his feet shod and his loins girt about, a daring soldier, to do battle, in the list, for his Lord and King.

What preparation had he? Scarcely more than the gracious gifts with which a generous nature had endowed him; that is, a strong, healthy vigorous body and a quick, alert, clean mind. To this should be added the happy influence of a Christian home, the good example of a godly father, and the sweet ministries of a saintly mother. With these, but higher and more essential than all else was a genuine conversion to God by faith in Jesus Christ, the unmistakable witness of the Holy Spirit, and the distinct sense of the "one clear call" from God to this ministry. Other than this, preparation he had none. "Educated," he says of himself, "in the corn field," he had little more than the barest rudiments of an education. The Bible and Hymnal had been his text books. His theology was learned from these and from his conscious religious experience. It was put into systematic form only by practice and preaching and prayer. This son of the forest had none of the arts of pulpit eloquence. His was the simple voice of nature telling what God had done for him, and declaring the Gospel of "the old, old story." Like the herdsman-prophet from Tekoa, he came with a message direct from God. Between him and this prophet from the south of Judea there was much in common. Their simple faith, unconventional life, direct appeal, stern morality and uncompromising jealousy and zeal for God and the faith of the fathers, bind him and Amos very close. His conquering faith and earnest preaching could but yield immediate results to his ministry. Therefore, one is not surprised to learn from his notes above referred to, that on the ten charges he served during these twenty-one years, he counts more than 1,728 souls whom he had received into the Methodist church, and many more converted who had gone to swell the militant hosts of the church of God in other communions. What a company, whom he had "begotten in the Lord" had gone on before him and awaited his coming to glory!

In this first period of his ministry, his work was largely that of a pioneer, his message the voice of one crying in the wilderness, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord." In writing of some of his circuits he speaks of them as fifty miles long and thirty wide, with twenty-six preaching places as monthly appointments. It was a life in the saddle. His library and wardrobe were in his saddle bags. Little time was given for self-improvement. It was a time of foundation laying for a great church, and wisely and well did he plant its first enduring stones. More than half a century removed from the beginnings of his ministry, the memory of him in those places is all but vanished, and his name and labors have become scarcely more than a tradition; yet North-east Mississippi Methodism owes a large part of its present power and influence to the pioneer preaching of this man of God from that primitive "home in the woods."

On December 6, 1876, he was married to his second wife, Mary E. Thompson, of Iuka, Miss. To them were born four children, one girl and three boys. One son died in infancy. The other three children, with their mother, still survive their sainted dead.

The second period of his ministry began in November, 1882, when he was assigned to the village of Greenville, in the heart of the Mississippi bottom. Here he stayed one year; the next, 1884, he was at Friars Point and Austin. Then came a term of four years, 1885, '86, '87, '88, as Presiding Elder on the Greenville District. At the Conference of 1885 he was elected a delegate to the General Conference held at Richmond, Va., the following year.

The first 46 years of his life had been spent in the high hills of Tennessee and North-east Mississippi. There he had drunk a pure water and breathed a clear atmosphere; and so, while he was doing a mighty work, God was fitting him with a strong, healthy body, capable of much endurance and great strain, and with large stores of reserve energy. Thus came he, vigorous of body and stalwart of frame, panoplied with a militant zeal and a conquering faith, fresh from the fields of glorious triumphs. And so was he sent forth that he might continue the conquest, as its leading spirit, of an empire in the great Yazoo, Mississippi, delta for his church and her Lord. His commission covered all the inhabited parts of this virgin land from the Tennessee line to the Mississippi Conference on the South, and from the river to the bluffs. At first it consisted of a few villages and steamboat landings along the banks of the mighty river, and an occasional inland community with here and there a lone settler building a rude home in the canebrake. In this territory, with a short, but broken intermission, he spent the remainder of his life. Coming as he did before the railroads had penetrated the forests and swamps of these inundated lowlands, before there was an adequate levee system, it was his to see the transformation of the delta as he watched the narrow farms along the river front ever widening, consuming the forests and canebrake and swamp land; so that now there stretches from the river to the bluffs almost one continuous open field. He saw churches built and worshipers at their altars where erstwhile the wild bear and savage panther ran their lonely trails. It was a common thing to see the stately form of this tall, stalwart man, like an Indian chief in his native wood, as he threaded his way afoot through swamp and break and forest, that he, like the apostle he was, might carry the Gospel of Christ to his brothers out in the frontier. To him more than to any other one man is due in history the credit of establishing Methodism in the Yazoo delta. And the fact that the territory within the Greenville district, is largely preempted by the Methodist Church is attributable to his heroic labors and wise leadership. There is not a church within its borders at whose altar he has not ministered, and few homes there are where he has not been a welcomed and an honored guest.

The chronology of these later years is quickly told. From the Greenville District he went to the Holly Springs District one year, 1889. Two years following to Holly Springs Station, 1890, '91. In the latter year he was made President of Malone College, Holly Springs, and in this capacity he served for seven years, until 1898. In connection with Malone College, or Epworth, as it was afterwards called, he served the following charges: 1892, Coahoma and Lyon; 1893, Holly Springs District; 1894, after the death of E. H. Moon, Tupelo Station; 1895, Laconia Circle, across the river from Deeson. In February, 1898, after the death of H. R. Tucker, he was appointed to the Corinth District, the scene of his earliest labor. In 1899, 1900, he was on the Holly Springs District for his third term. From there for 1901 he was sent to Tunica. Here his health failed for a while and that fall he was placed on the superannuated list, where he remained until the Conference of 1905, doing work almost as continuously as if he were effective. In 1902, '03, he was at Alligator Lake and Duncan; 1904, '05, Robinsonville and Lake Cormorant. In 1905, his health being restored, he was again placed on the effective list. From then on he served the following charges: 1906, Hillhouse and Deeson; 1907, Hillhouse and Gunnison; 1908, Leland; 1909, Hillhouse and Deeson; 1910, '11, and until March 18, 1912, Tunica.

When his Presiding Elder was with him February 17, for his first Quarterly Conference of this year, Brother Honnoll was far from being well. On the 19th he went to his home which he had built, not so much for himself as for his wife and children, in Memphis. There he gradually grew worse, until the end came to his earthly ministry, in the early morning of March 19, 1912, and his saintly spirit went home to its mansion in the skies. He was buried in Holly Springs, Miss., there to await the resurrection of the just.

How may one properly appraise him? A pioneer builder in two distinct parts of our Conference, he lived to see the fruits of his labors in well-organized churches, with splendid temples of worship, the dominating influences of the sections in which he labored to lay broad and firm the foundations of Methodism.

He was a child of nature. Born amidst the things of simplest kind, of parents who came into the forest primeval, with their stamp upon him, and reared in the open wild, he was of kinship of God's simplest folk, whom he always loved best of all. He ever went their ways, thought their thoughts, spoke their language, lived their life and knew their wants. He never grew away from them. The lure of the city did not reach his quiet soul. The stir and haste and jostle of the crowded street had no attraction for him.

He was a man of peace. He feared no antagonist and was abashed by no foe, yet he loved not the clash and strife of contention. He rarely indulged in debates on the floor of the Conference, and when he did it was with briefest kindly speech. It was sometimes remarked of him that he made half of his speech while getting up and the rest while sitting down. But whatever he said always carried with it great weight. The lust for fame and honors never took hold of him. Content was he to let others lead and he would follow. They might wear the laurels of victory to which his toils had contributed, without causing a shadow of envy to darken his serene spirit.

He was never a great student of many books. He read and understood our standards as few of us did. He was always a prayerful reader of his Bible. He knew its great doctrines and its glorious gospel. "I have read my Bible through," said he, "more than forty times." He was a man of earnest, simple prayer, and he believed in a personal God, a Heavenly Father, who would hear the cry of His child. One of the most beautiful things about him was that to the day of his death, each night in his private devotions, out of the sweet simplicity of his soul, he repeated "the child's prayer" taught him by his mother in his far-off childhood days. What is more refreshing than to think of this aged prophet of God, whose burning messages had moved great multitudes, kneeling at night by his bedside, and like a child, praying:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray thee, Lord, my soul to keep;
If I should die before I wake,
I pray thee, Lord, my soul to take. Amen."

He was a preacher of unusual gifts. In his younger days, taking the fruits of his labor as the proof of his ministry, he must have been a preacher of great persuasive power. In his later years, when the writer heard him most, the sweep of his imagination was sometimes overpowering. He never indulged in rhetorical displays. He was too honest for that. One who loved him, and had occasion to hear him often, wrote: "Who that ever heard him does not remember his preaching? The tall and stalwart form, the expressive face, irregular in feature, but with strength depicted in every line; the eyes like those of Gladstone, leaden when in repose, but now bright and at times flashing fire; the deep resonant voice, now low and measured in tone, but presently breaking forth in impassioned appeal; the occasional gestures, more forceful than graceful; the clear exposition of Scripture; the impressive unfolding of the theme, the practical application, clear, pointed and powerful; all compressed into approximately thirty minutes—who can ever forget the man or the style of his message? He loved, in his last days, to preach of Heaven, and the fore gleams of its sunless light seemed to cast a radiant glow over the face as he anticipated and described its glories. And for him, "Heaven seemed to begin, ere yet the world was past."

Who excelled him as a pastor? No extremes of weather kept him from the homes of his people. He diligently visited from house to house and never stayed in one place longer than was needful. In the sick room, in the house of mourning, his quiet presence and his words of comfort calmed the troubled heart. Who in the charges he served in the Greenville District that does not carry in his mind an image of this man of God, bent with many years of hard and earnest toil, with walking cane and umbrella in hand, walking in village street or along the country highway, busy at his Master's work? The doors of the humble tenant's home and alike the lordly mansion of the planter swung open wide, with gracious welcome, at his knock. And both alike received his Christly visitations.

But noblest of all was he a simple, humble, devout Christian man. Innocent of any wrong, "wearing the white flower of a stainless life," he towered among his fellows. In conscious integrity he stood foursquare to the world, respected by all men, loved by most, distrusted by none. But he is gone. We miss his presence and are very lonely.

"Something beautiful has vanished,
And we seek for it in vain,
On the earth and in the air
But it never comes again."

The Rev. James Thompson Cunningham.

The Rev. James Thompson Cunningham, aged 72 years, ascended on Saturday before Easter Sunday, 1912. On Easter morning, while bells were chiming their glad invitations to the Christian world, calling them to the vision of a broken sepulchre, an open grave and a risen Lord, his body was borne to the cemetery at Tupelo, Miss., covered with clay decorated with flowers and evergreens, emblems of our hope in Immortality. It seemed a fitting day for such a service. By recitals of history, by intimations of immortality, by song, by story, by praise, by prayer, by proclamations of a day when the grave should give up its dead, amid flowers and music, a Christian world was gathering, singing its joy-songs and shouting, "He is risen." At this hour his mortal body was borne by loving hands to its burial.

Brother Cunningham was well born, his Scotch-Irish father reared in the faith of the Presbyterian Church, was a man of strong character, striking personality and large influence. An elder in the Presbyterian Church. He was one of the leading men of Mississippi in the period of her early development. He was an able financier and his abilities were shown in the fact that he was a chief promoter of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, President of a number of banks in Mississippi, Tennessee and California; also a merchant prince in the prairies of East Mississippi.

The wife of Brother Cunningham was Mary Elizabeth Heard, a member of another well known Georgia-Mississippi family known in those early days throughout the South, the name of which was written into the early history of the Methodism of our section.

The Rev. J. T. Cunningham was a scholar. With an education acquired in the schools and colleges of Georgia and Virginia, he entered life's activities with a strong intellectual equipments. He read Latin fluently to the time of his death. Those who have heard him preach will never forget the accuracy of his pronounciation, the perfectness of his diction, the rhythmic flow of his rhetoric. In the use of his native tongue he was, a master.

Brother Cunningham was a patriot. At the first call for volunteers, when the slave-holding states arose to defend the Constitution and maintain the doctrine of State's-rights, the young collegian left all and followed the Stars and Bars.

He joined the company of which J. B. Sale, of Aberdeen, was Captain; was afterward with Saunders' Battalion, Armstrong's Brigade, under Vandorn.

Many of the leading men of Mississippi were with him—leaders in the struggle of those bloody days, hot-blooded patriots, with the blood of the Normans in their veins and the spirit of the cavalier to nerve and hearten them to the conflict, whose records form part of the best history of the Civil War, and the dark period of reconstruction.

He was Chaplain of his regiment, but being a fine shot, and owning an improved rifle, he went to the very front and became an active participant in the fighting.

He carried this militant spirit through the years. His step was martial, his bearing soldierly, his spirit unconquerable.

He knew what he knew, believed in what he believed, followed his convictions, was loyal to his friends, loving to his family, patriotic in his devotions to his State, always sensitive to the appeal of honor, a gentleman of the old school, an advocate of justice, an ardent admirer of truth.

He was a Christian minister. His soul was peculiarly sensitive to the warming and life-giving gulf stream of Divine Love which flows from the heart of God. His preaching was full of the pathos of redeeming grace. When he preached his physical nature was animated, his face glowing, his muscle and nerve powers responding to the psychic influence of the gospel as the consciousness of its power stirred brain and heart; his intellect was aglow, reason, imagination and all other faculties of mind responded to the gospel theme; and the man was transformed in the pulpit.

He was licensed to preach in the old Aberdeen Church and afterwards ordained there by Bishop Paine, his kinsman and friend.

He was never strong physically, and could not bear for a long period of time the strain and privations of the regular work. Every few years he was forced to retire to his plantation and recuperate. But his love for lost men, his sense of duty would lure him back to the battlefield with the first glow of returning strength and he would again preach with the strength and vigor of a man who felt the propulsive power of a great love.

He served Brooksville, Buena Vista, Houston, Starkville, Verona and other appointments.

His first charge was Vinton Circuit, his last was Verona.

Twenty years ago he superannuated. He made his home at Verona and later moved to Tupelo. After the death of his wife, six years ago, he lived among his children, spending the most of the time with his son, the Rev. J. E. Cunningham, at present Presiding Elder of the Aberdeen District, in the bounds of which his father lived, labored and learned his lesson of patient waiting until the end came.

One of the examples of the esteem in which he was held was shown in the "call" which he received from the Presbyterian Church at Tupelo to act as its pastor. A superannuate Methodist minister, he served the Presbyterian Church as pastor for about a year, preaching to them each Sunday morning, visiting their homes, baptizing their children, "marrying" their young people and holding funeral services over their dead.

His love for the father of this writer and the writer's memory of his pastoral love and love for his son has inspired this appreciation.

J. C. PARK.

James Thaddeus Murrah.

The whole Conference was shocked when on Tuesday, August the 20th, the distressing announcement was made that our beloved brother, J. T. Murrah, was dead. The next day we buried his body beside that of "the wife of his youth" in the beautiful cemetery at Columbus, Miss.

In the midst of more than ordinary men in many respects Murrah was an exception. Born of noble blood, reared a gentleman, educated in Vanderbilt University, full of vigor and laudable ambition, wedded to his calling, he was an example of high accomplishment and well-merited honors. The son of one of the noblest men of Southern Methodism, a brother of our distinguished Bishop, he himself, was an honor to the family and a credit to the Church.

Entering the Conference in 1892, at the age of 35, his first appointment was Tibbee. Durant, Clarksdale, Shaw, Senatobia, Sardis and Aberdeen, in the order named, were his other charges. In every place he served his gifts attracted attention, and from the beginning to the end of his labors he enjoyed great popularity.

A capital preacher—he was original, logical, convincing and eloquent, oftentimes in a splendid degree. As a pastor he was faithful and energetic. Few among us have been quite so successful. The most delicate situations and the most trying conditions he handled with a master hand. In all the relations of life his demeanor was that of kindness, gentleness, patience.

Whether in the pulpit, or in the home, his presence was ever pleasing and inspiring. His cultured bearing and his sympathetic nature made him comfortable in any crowd. His genial disposition would enliven a social occasion, while his warm, big heart invited the confidence of those who were sad and made him a blessing.

There was no manlier man than J. T. Murrah—no knightlier spirit. As father and husband he was kind, thoughtful, gentle. As friend and neighbor—as minister and citizen he filled the sphere of a noble soul. In common with others, he made mistakes. He had his weaknesses—all men have theirs, but he sincerely tried to correct his mistakes, and he labored assiduously to overcome his weaknesses. As a result, no man of the Conference was in greater demand for our leading charges. In the midst of a successful and harmonious administration at Aberdeen, disease attacked him early in the year. He sought relief at noted watering places, and at the hands of the best of physicians. Finally, he went to Memphis for special treatment. Without any warning, the summons came, as he was sleeping quietly in his room at the hotel. Thus, having “served his own generation by the will of God, he fell on sleep,” and was gathered unto his Fathers. The voice of the prophet is hushed. The gentleman, the Christian, the man is gone. The Conference is poorer, but the Church is richer for his example. He lived his life among us and left his influence to sweeten our lives. How many are better today for having known and loved the man!

After all, there is nothing great in soul but loyalty to truth and duty.

J. E. CUNNINGHAM.

Mrs. Julia Kendall.

Mrs. Julia Kendall was born in the State of New York February 6, 1833. Her parents, William and Eliza Roselle, moved to Texas in 1841. In 1854, their daughter, Julia A. Roselle, was married to the Hon. John A. Hancock, a gifted and brilliant young lawyer of Houston, Texas. In 1859, Mr. and Mrs. Hancock came to the State of Mississippi, and after the Civil War had closed, they settled in Hernando, where they resided until the death of Mr. Hancock, who, at the time of his death was serving his county as Probate Judge. On December 9, 1869, Mrs. Hancock was united in marriage to the Rev. Amos Kendall. This proved to be one of the most congenial and happy marital unions ever known by this writer. For forty years they were true and devoted companions in all the toils and vicissitudes of the Methodist itineracy, until the husband was called home on April 12, 1909. She was a wife and helpmate in the fullest sense of the terms.

Brother Kendall was a Presiding Elder for twenty years consecutively, during which time she, having no children nor other earthly care excepting her husband and the high calling in which he was engaged, traveled with him almost all the time when the weather and roads were favorable. Such were her lovely Christian character, kindly nature, and friendly disposition that there was everywhere a welcome for her with her husband. Many homes have been brightened and many hearts cheered by her kindly words and generous deeds, as myself and family with numerous others can testify.

During the eleven years spent in the parsonage of the West Point, Aberdeen and Sardis stations her domestic life shone most beautifully. There was nothing wanting on her part in the way of neatness and comfort. The cordial welcome extended and the incessant care for the welfare of her guests made it always a pleasure to be in her home. After the death of her husband, Sister Kendall made her home with her three sisters in Texas, but her heart clung to Mississippi's soil, where her companion is buried and where are living many loved and loving friends. Twice she returned on visits; the last time a few months ago when she came among us in great feebleness of body, but with her characteristic joyous spirit. She was met wherever she went with hearty greetings and an earnest welcome. This writer and his family will ever cherish the memory of her stay in their home for ten days, only a few weeks before her departure to the eternal rest.

Her body rests beside that of her husband in the cemetery at Aberdeen, while her noble soul has gone to join his in the life beyond, and to be forever with the Lord.

G. W. BACHMAN.

Appropriate remarks were made by G. W. Bachman, W. D. McCullough, D. W. Babb, J. M. Wyatt and J. W. Raper. On motion a brief memoir of Mrs. Amos Kendall was ordered printed in the Conference minutes.

The business of the session being finished, one stanza of "How Firm a Foundation" was sung and the Conference adjourned with the benediction by J. C. Park.

Spiritual Interests—The Committee on Spiritual Interests made the following report, which was adopted:

SPIRITUAL INTERESTS.

We, your Committee, beg leave to report that we have heard with great pleasure of the large number of additions to the Church on profession of faith during the past year, and of the increased interest in the various departments of Church activity. We hear of large things being enterprised by the Missionary Societies, of the large and growing interest in the organized class work in the Sunday Schools, of the splendid circulation of the New Orleans Advocate among us, and of many other things that betoken prosperous times in the Church. But conditions are far from satisfactory when we contrast the situation as it is with what it ought to be. We lament the decay of the family altar, of home religion. The very integrity of the home has been attacked, the spirit of disintegration has set in among us, so that our family life is not what it once was.

Last year there was a divorce out of every ten marriages in our country. This fact alone thunders in our ears the awful dangers confronting Christian America. We feel that the time is ripe for a great campaign in the interest of a revival of the family altar and of home religion. We would urge our pastors to preach more on the necessity of the family altar and warn our people against the blight of worldliness and the decay of vital godliness. Let our pastors be diligent in setting a good, wholesome example that they would be willing for the people to follow. The Apostle says, "Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being examples to the flock."

We need also to stress more emphatically the imperative need of a great revival of spiritual religion. We need to strike the evangelistic note more vigorously. Our people do not fully appreciate what it means to give Christ the pre-eminence in all things and to be wholly consecrated to His service. We do not urge that less emphasis be placed on material things, on financial plans and the great policies for the enlargement of our work, but we do long to see a larger place given the spiritual side of our ever expanding Methodism. If such shall be the case, we confidently expect to see great revivals of religion all over our bounds. May God hasten the day!

E. D. LEWIS, For the Committee.

On motion, W. W. Woollard was elected to fill the vacancy in the Committee for Admission on Trial.

Books and Periodicals—The Committee on Books and Periodicals made the following report, which was adopted:

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.Publishing House.

The exhibit of our Publishing Agents, Smith & Lamar, for the year ending February 29th, 1912, shows that our Publishing House is still in a flourishing condition, a fact that should prove gratifying to every member of our Church. It is an indication of a healthy condition.

This exhibit shows that the assets of the House amount to $1,327,826.18; with liabilities to the amount of $159,877.06; leaving as net capital of the House the sum of $1,167,949.12.

The total receipts for the year amounted to $831,902.45, the profit on which was $82,339.18, an increase in profits over the preceding year of $8,249.75. It is particularly gratifying to note that out of the year's profits, the Book Committee appropriated $10,000.00 to the annual Conference for the benefit of the superannuated preachers and the widows and orphans of the preachers.

The Christian Advocate.

We feel that it would not be easy to overstate the value of The Christian Advocate to our people. It is thoroughly awake to every field and interest of Southern Methodism. Its editorial utterances deal with every phase of interest to church and Christian life; and they are clear and forceful, liberal in spirit and safe and conservative in tone. Its departments were, perhaps, never better edited than now; and the contributed articles add greatly to its worth in the way of provoking serious and profitable thought. We do not hesitate to say that so far as we have knowledge of the periodical literature of American Methodism, it easily ranks with the best.

The Methodist Review.

We have been pleased to note during the past year the absence in our Methodist Review of articles favorable to the new theology, to which objection was raised in the report of this Committee adopted last year. We should be glad now to affirm that this, the leading journal of our Church, is admirably meeting the needs of our Methodist ministry; but if that ministry is to retain its aggressive, evangelical character, and if the Methodism of today, as the Methodism of yesterday, is to "deeply and mightily stir the hearts of men," there is need that this source of inspiring thought and purpose should touch more frequently and more deeply the fundamentals of personal faith and evangelical doctrine. As at present edited by our brilliant brother, the Rev. Gross Alexander, our Methodist Review is undoubtedly a scholarly journal, dealing with a wide variety of subjects sociological, psychological, theological, educational, historical and literary, in an interesting and informing manner; but that the cumulative effect of it is such as our ordination vows conceive to be the end and aim of all ministerial studies we seriously doubt.

Sunday School Periodicals.

The young people and children of today will constitute the Church of tomorrow. Hence we do well to put forth our greatest effort and make our largest expenditures to secure their conversion and training. We have found that the Sunday School is the most effective organized agency to accomplish that end, and proper periodical literature necessary to the work. We commend our Sunday School Department for the exalted ideals of what that literature should be, and congratulate those in charge on their approach towards the ideal. We hope they will never reach perfection, because we desire that the ideals shall always advance as the accomplishment approaches towards it. We urge upon our preachers and people the use of our own literature to the exclusion of all others.

There is great need for a song book that is excellent and popular, and that can be introduced into all our rural churches and Sunday Schools. Such a book should be composed of three parts. Part I. should consist of not more than fifteen best hymns from the Methodist Hymnal; Part II. not more than fifteen best gospel songs that have permanent value; Part III. not more than fifteen new songs. Parts I. and II. should be stereotyped and not revised for a generation. Part III. may be revised annually, or as often as new songs appear that are desirable. The average rural church has from five to ten or a dozen song books, of from two to three different kinds. This evil has resulted from the frequent publication and exploitation of song books containing from 150 to 175 songs costing from 20 cents to 30 cents each. Less than fifty of the songs of each book are used by the people. Such book as we recommend can be sold for 10 cents per copy. We urge upon the Sunday School Department the speedy preparation of such book.

Epworth Era.

The Epworth Era has been changed from a weekly to a monthly publication, and is being issued in very attractive form. Its value as a working manual is quite evident; but it is to be doubted whether it takes the place now vacant in our scheme of church literature, which can only be supplied by a high-class weekly paper for our young people.

New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate represents more nearly, in its limited sphere, our ideal of what religious journalism should mean. Assuming no neutral attitude yet with its columns open to a fair discussion of all subjects within the legitimate range of Christian controversy, its Editor stands squarely for that which all men recognize to be the fundamentals of Methodism, and against all that he believes to be misleading and perilous to the Church. Such an editorial policy we can but admire and heartily endorse; and a church journal, breathing such a spirit of aggressive conservatism until fully convinced of the wisdom of change, can but make powerful impress upon the minds and heart of the church.

We congratulate the church at large, and the patronizing Conferences of the New Orleans Christian Advocate in particular, upon having as the Editor of their Conference organ so sane, so orthodox, so evangelical, so able a man as Dr. R. A. Meek. We are proud of the influence which this journal is exerting throughout the church; and we believe that if all official organs would follow its example and "stand for something," even Methodism in its purity and power, its doctrine, its policy, its aggressive evangelism, much of the insipidity and colorlessness of religious journalism today would pass away. Interest in it and its influence would, we are convinced, be mightily increased.

Conference Colporter.

Our Colporter, Bro. Bachman, has rendered a great service to the Church and continues to be abundant in good works. The different cults are circulating their literature in the homes of our people, and good books are our defense. We commend Bro. Bachman to all our pastors—that he may be given an opportunity to visit their charges and that we assist him in doing a work needed at this time. We request that he be re-appointed to this work. He reports:

Book sales North Mississippi Conference	$1,489.54
Book sales Mississippi Conference	1,217.77
Church papers	108.00
Sunday School literature	119.90
Total	$2,935.21

We have considered the recommendation of the Publishing Committee of the New Orleans Christian Advocate with reference to the appointment of a layman on that Board, and we nominate for membership on it the following: W. W. Woollard, H. S. Spragins and J. D. Barbee.

Mississippi has a great Methodism, with a number of flourishing institutions; and the time has fully come when an organ should be established which will be entirely devoted to its interests; therefore, we instruct our representatives, in co-operation with those of the Mississippi Conference, to take steps looking to this end as soon as the present contract with the publisher of the New Orleans Christian Advocate expires, or earlier, if possible.

At the request of the New Orleans Methodist Preachers' Meeting, we request the Publishing Agents to establish a Book Depository in New Orleans, if in their judgment such action seems wise.

J. D. BARBEE, Chairman.

Address—Dr. F. S. Parker, Secretary of the Epworth League Board, was introduced and made a brief address in behalf of his work. Dr. Green, representing the Children's Home Society, was also introduced and made a short talk.

Report—The Board of Church Extension made the following report, which was read and adopted:

CHURCH EXTENSION.

Your Board is glad to report an increasing interest in this branch of church work. Our pastors are recognizing its importance as never before and when our laymen have been fully informed on the subject we will do greater things in extending the Lord's Kingdom.

What Has Been Done.

During the thirty years' history of the Board of Church Extension aid has been given to 8,394 Churches and 2,177 parsonages; 315 of the 569 Churches of our own Conference and 59 of 149 parsonages have received assistance.

Loan Fund.

We are glad to note the steady increase in the Loan Fund, which now amounts to $435,164.00. This money is loaned Churches where conditions warrant at the low rate of four per cent. It is remarkable to note that that not one dollar of the hundreds of loans that have been made has ever been lost.

Conference Board Loan Funds.

Acting upon the authority given by the last General Conference your Board has begun a loan fund of its own, the money for which is secured by special contribution from friends and ten per cent of the annual receipts on its assessments. This money is loaned to Churches in our own bounds on the same terms and conditions as those required by the parent Board. This fund, at present, has to its credit $800.00, which has already been loaned.

Sunday School Loan Fund.

We call attention to the Sunday School Loan Fund which is to be loaned to the churches for a better equipment of the Sunday School. The resources of this fund are the birthday jars that are put into the Sunday School where application has been made. The money from this source amounted last year to $1,551.00. Thirty of the jars are in use in our own Conference. Others will be furnished free of charge to any school upon the application of Pastor or Superintendent. We insist that our schools be given an opportunity to contribute to this cause.

Representative Church in Washington.

Good progress has been made in securing the funds for our representative church at Washington City, through the faithful efforts of Rev. Geo. Sexton. In the near future we will have a structure in our National Capitol that will in some measure represent the importance of our Southern Methodism.

Literature.

The General Board has provided the necessary literature to inform our people upon the work and needs of this arm of the Church. This literature can be had for the asking and every congregation should be supplied with the same.

District Conferences.

We ask again that a prominent place be given this cause on the program of our District Conference. The Board will furnish the necessary speakers.

Insurance

We insist that our houses of worship and parsonages be insured against fire and storm. More churches are destroyed by wind than fire and for this reason be sure your policy protects you from both.

What We Have Paid.

We paid last year on an assessment of $7,712.00, $5,049.00 which made us No. 34 in the list of annul Conferences, according to the percentage paid on assessments. On the same assessment we paid this year $5,755.70, thus making a gain of more than $700.00.

Our Needs.

In view of the fact that in our own Conference we have fifty congregations with no church home and eleven pastoral charges with no parsonages, we need full collections.

Resolutions—The following resolutions were, on motion, adopted: Whereas, representatives of Methodist Schools in other Conferences habitually make a persistent and thorough canvass of our territory, securing more or less patronage legitimately belonging to our own Conference schools and greatly prejudicing our people against our own institutions, Resolved, That we request the General Board of Education to take such steps as may be deemed best to prevent representatives of schools in one Conference from trespassing on the territory of those established and maintained by another Conference.

THOS. A. LIPSCOMB,

I. D. BORDERS,

E. S. LEWIS.

L. M. Lipscomb was called to the Chair by Bishop Morrison.

Epworth Leagues—The Epworth League Board made the following report, which was adopted, after reading:

EPWORTH LEAGUES.

We note with pleasure a steadily growing interest in the young people's work in general and in the Epworth League Department in particular. While there are not a large number of Leagues in North Mississippi, and while the proportion of Leagues to the number of charges is considerably below that in some of the Conferences, there is growing interest.

During the past year a number of new Leagues were put into successful operation, while few disbanded. There was held in Okolona, June 11-13th, a most successful and helpful conference. Attendance was good, the work done was practical and the interest was the best for years. We are planning another to be held in Pontotoc June 10-12th next.

We have joined the two Alabama Conferences, Mississippi Conference and the Louisiana Conference in launching a Tri-State Epworth League Assembly to be held some time in July at Seashore Camp Ground or some more centrally located place. The three things to be emphasized in this ten days' meeting and class-room work will be Bible Study, Mission Study and Personal Evangelism. We earnestly insist that each pastor send, if possible, one or more of his young people, and come himself.

We desire to call attention to the Week of Prayer preceding the first Sunday in May. We ask that the first Sunday in May be observed as Young People's Day; that an offering be made, one-half to be sent to the General Office at Nashville to take the place of the ten cent assessment, one-half to be sent to the Conference Treasurer to help defray the expenses of the Conference Board.

The League Loan Fund is gradually increasing. Last year we kept three young men in school. This session we are assisting two and have accepted a third to assist, beginning with January, 1913. We hope you will call attention to this worthy enterprise and secure contributions to this Loan Fund wherever you can.

The Leaguers of the entire Church last year raised more than one hundred thousand dollars. About twenty-five thousand was raised for the Cuba Mission, thus making possible Candler College at Havana. We insist that our Leaguers and others wishing to help in a mission special do not forget the Cuba Special. It is hoped that this special may reach the fifty thousand mark this year. A great League Conference for the Southern Church to meet in Havana, Cuba, is being planned for the near future.

Finally, we urge that you organize new Leagues where possible. Not necessarily large numbers, but where a few earnest, aspiring young people may be brought together. In this connection, we would recommend the use of the little tract, "One by One Campaign Manual." Our aim is a League in every pastoral charge.

J. H. HOLDER, Chairman.

American Bible Society—The American Bible Society Board made the following report, which was read and adopted:

Without the aid of the Bible, Scriptural holiness could not be spread over the land. The Word of God is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. The American Bible Society is our chief dependence in the distribution of Bibles, and is worthy of our most hearty support and most liberal contributions. On an assessment of $1,200 we have paid this year $908.20, leaving a deficit of $291.80. This is a small increase over last year. No district has paid its assessment in full. We ask that the districts be assessed the same as last year on a total of $1,200. Signed,

S. A. BROWN, Secretary and Treasurer.

Sunday Schools—The Sunday School Board made its report which was read and adopted as follows:

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

The combined wisdom of the religious thought of today is directed to report that we have made some effort in the direction of a higher grade of Sunday School work, which has, in many instances, been successful in a marked degree. It is now an assured fact in this Conference that the children and adults of the Church are being directed by better and more skillful teachers, and by the direction of this Board, through its Field Secretary, the adult membership of our Church is more generally enlisted in the study of the Scriptures than ever before. For two years the Board has been so fortunate as to have the services of Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick, whose labors in Sunday School work has been most satisfactory to us, and the result of her intelligence and well directed efforts, are evidenced in the large number of adult Bible Classes which have been organized in our Conference.

On account of the fact that the collections this year have not been equal to the expenses for the Board, we desire to urge pastors and laymen to emphasize the importance of Children's Day collection and we call attention to the fact that the discipline requires that all Children Day collections shall be paid to the Treasurer of our Board. In some instances the law of the Church has not been observed, and this failure caused the Board's present embarrassment. We beg this Conference for a Children's Day in every charge, and that the collection be forwarded promptly to our Treasurer.

We recommend that Dr. John W. Boswell be re-appointed for the office of Assistant Sunday School Editor. In order that we may discharge the obligation of our Church and that impetus may be given to the Bible Class movement, we ask the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, by this Conference that the fourth Sunday of March be set apart in our Sunday Schools as Adult Bible Class Day; that we recommend the entire proceeds of the collection to be remitted to the Sunday School Board, a suitable program to be arranged by the Superintendents and Pastors, and the observance of this day shall, in no way, interfere with Children's Day.

* J. G. M'GOWAN, President.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS NO. 2.

We are pleased to state that we have secured the services of Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick as Field Secretary and Mr. R. M. Weaver as her assistant on a basis that is satisfactory to us, and in order that the Conference may understand we have thought best to submit our contract with her to the Conference, for its approval.

The following is the resolution adopted by the Board unanimously, which we submit to you for your approval:

Resolved, that this Board employ Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick as Field Secretary for the year 1913. Her salary to be the balance of the monies coming to this Board after the payment of the deficit of 1912 and the 40 per cent due the General Board and such other needed and usual expenses incurred, said salary not to exceed $1,200.00 and expenses. And as a further consideration of this contract, it is agreed that Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick is to be assured of the earnest, prayerful personal cooperation, not only of the preachers and laymen of this Board, but the preachers and laymen of our entire Conference.

J. G. M'GOWEN, President.

Missions—The Board of Missions submitted reports One and Two, which were adopted, as follows:

MISSIONS NO. 1

“Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world!”

These words close the Gospel of Matthew. During the year now closing the missionary enterprises of the Church in foreign fields have passed through experiences perhaps without parallel in the history of Missions. These experiences are making possible the “going,” and the “teaching-ing and baptizing” to an extent that fully warrants the conclusion that the nations are becoming “teachable,” and the “lo, I am with you always” is a prophecy being fulfilled to the letter.

Three great fields are in the throes of political and social revolution that make possible the propagation of the Gospel as never before. China, no longer the sleeping giant, but the strong man girding himself for a race, bids fair to be one of our richest fields—bearing fruit even an hundred fold. Mexico, crying and cutting herself like the demoniac of Gadara is second as an inviting field, only in size. Korea, though not a Promothous bound and vulture-visited, is suffering the horrors of military rule, and the persecution so often the accompaniment of a living faith, so heroically as to remind us of the days of martyrdom. In all these places we judge the future by the past, “our Lord, the Lord of Hosts,” will conquer, is conquering.

Our progress in foreign fields is evidenced by an increase in membership of 2,448, and contributions totalling $46,035.00. The political upheavals have not discouraged our missionary forces but the increasing opportunities have so enlarged the sphere of action that the work is telling on them.

At Home.

The consecrated thought and toil of those charged with the administration of our work at home is taking form, and looks to the real evangelization of all the constituent elements of our home land. The foreigner, just arriving, the mountaineer, the submerged classes of the city and the Negro. Further practical expression of this energy is found in the steps being taken for the elimination of any uncertain type of independent evangelism, and substituting therefore evangelists who have the seal and approval of the Church. This may not be without its dangers, but upon the whole is the most satisfactory and workable plan yet suggested.

God has opened the fields, volunteers are ready to man them. If the Church will open her purse the nations of the earth will be evangelized speedily.

We recommend the re-appointment of Rev. John Tillery Lewis as Conference Missionary Secretary, and that the men nominated by him be elected as delegates to the great Missionary gathering contemplated near Waynesville, N. C., June, 1913.

It is further recommended that the Presiding Elders on their first round, have one delegate elected from each charge in their respective districts. Signed, JAMES H. FELTS, For the Board.

MISSIONS NO. 2

It is the hope of the Board of Missions that the time may not be far distant when, through the administration of our Conference Mission Fund, no preacher shall be forced to serve a charge for less than a $600 salary; and we ask the earnest co-operation of the Presiding Elders in the arrangement of charges so that this goal may be reached.

We wish to express our hearty approval of the plans of the General Board for holding institutes for colored preachers and workers in North Mississippi and we pledge them such co-operation of effort as may be possible that these plans may succeed.

We recommend that Home Mission Week shall be observed in those charges where conditions have made it impossible to do so at the time fixed upon.

We wish to ask again that the missionary items be taken out of budgets, and that the preacher, lay leader and Missionary Committee, provided for by paragraph 381 of the Discipline, bring the missionary work to the attention of every member of the Church upon the merit of the cause itself.

The assessments for the incoming year are as follows: Foreign Missions, $12,500.00; Home Missions, $3,900.00; and Conference Missions, $7,855.00. The assessment being unchanged, the apportionment will remain as last year, with the understanding that in the case of the transfer of charges from one district to another, such charges are to carry their proportion of assessment with them.

J. H. FELTS, For Board.
